

#4

I would trace one using patty paper, looseleaf, white paper, a plastic bag, etc. I would then transpose the first image I copied onto the other using translations, reflections, and/or rotations. If the figures align, then I have two congruent figures.